Expedition Back From Nova Zembla

Christiania, Oct. 17.—After explorations lasting two months, the Norwegian expedition to Nova Zembla, headed by Professor Hlotedhal, of the University of Christiania, has returned with a mass of new facts.

The main features of the geological structure of the range of mountains in Nova Zembla were ascertained and traces of land vegetation and fresh water fish dating from the later Devonian age were found, showing the explorers affirm, that the great North Atlantic mainland of the Devonian age once extended as far as Nova Zembla.

Twelve ocean level marks subsequent to the glacial age were discovered and sea shells were found up to heights of 250 yards above sea level.

The expedition also collected a vast amount of interesting specimens of animal life including new species of birds and fresh water fish.

KENDRICK'S COMMERCIAL CLASS OPENS FOR WORK

A feature of interest last night was the initial opening of B. H.
Kendrick's class in bookkeeping and accounting, which met in the American Legion club rooms. This is the first class of this kind to be held in Palatka for a long time, and it is certainly gratifying to the people of Palatka that such an opportunity is available to the young men and women of the city to obtain a thorough training in this necessary asset to good business. Mr. Kendrick is employed as accountant by one of the largest corporations in this city, which fact alone is sufficient to prove his competency to handle such a venture, and considering the very nominal fee charged, it is to be hoped that there will be a hearty response to his efforts.

PUTNAM HIGH TO PLAY SPRINGFIELD ATHLETICS

although there was nothing to be ashamed of in that contest.

Is the Washington conference to serve the politicians or the people?
Well, wait and see which is kept in ignorance of the deliberations.

WALLACE REID AT GRAND

The scene, as they say in the printed plays, was the Lasky studio. Under the lily white sheets that adorned the bed lay Wallace Reid, a towel around his forehead and a pained expression in his eyes. Near him pretty Bebe Daniels stood waiting anxiously, while a grave doctor examined Wallie's heart with a stethoscope.

From another set came the strains of jazz music.

Wallie stirred uneasily. The doctor frowned. The director started forward with a warning shout.

"Time out!" cried Wallie suddenly to the camera men and sprang out of bed.

A few hurried words to Bebe Daniels. She smiled and nodded. Wallie placed his arm about her and, disregarding the scandalized director, swung into a lively jazz dance step.
Just as they did in the previous Reid picture, "The Dancin' Fool." When the music stopped, so did the dancers, and Wallie climbed back into bed.

"I couldn't help it," he apologized laughingly. "I'm sick to acting sick, and the jazz music started me off.
Proceed with the examination, doctor, shoot."

So Wallie became the hero of "Sick Abed" again. According to the picture, he was just feigning illness to help a friend out of a laughable mess. The film, which is a Paramount Arctcraft, will be shown at the Grand today.
